Ike Gives CIA a Boost

Washington, Nov. 3 (NEWS Bureau).—Intelligence agents build the foundations of just and permanent peace by their unheralded hunt for information on which to base sound policy, President Eisenhower declared today as he laid the cornerstone of the Central Intelligence Agency's new eight-story building in Langley, Va., just across the Potomac.

Ike then helicoptered to Gettysburg, Pa., to vote. He cast his ballot in a volunteer fire company headquarters near his farm home and then flew back to the White House.
